Swedish in American productions by Australian people that inspired Miss Darley to come to this country.

Miss Darley has found the American public takes to its own songs after they have been sung and whistled in foreign lands better, perhaps, than when they are first introduced here. Taking almost the identical musical program she used a year ago in New South Wales, Miss Darley has delighted burlesque audiences all along the Columbia circuit this season.

Miss Darley made her debut in Sydney in 1914. Since that time she has traveled extensively in the Orient, returning to her native home in Australia for a short engagement before coming to this country last year.

Bide Dudley's Play

To Be Seen Next Week.

Theodore C. Deitrich will produce at the Shubert-Garrick Theater for the week commencing next Sunday, Bide Dudley's farce comedy, "Oh, Henry," described as "an antidote for the eighteenth amendment."

Mr. Dudley is a well-known New York newspaper humorist. The cast for "Oh, Henry" will include William Roselle, formerly with Morosco's "The Walkoffs," Florence Carrette, Vira Rial, Eva Condon, Catherine Carroll, Percy Benton, James McCormick, and May Patterson. George Vivian, who put on "Treasurer Island," is responsible for the staging of the Dudley play.

GREATER PENN GARDENS.

The great open-air dancing floor of the Greater Penn Gardens has been officially opened to the dancers of Washington every evening that the weather permits. The Garden has been put in the prime of condition by fresh decorations and paint and the marble and glass floor has been newly polished.

ARCADE.

Diffident young bachelors are warned to give the Arcade Auditorium a wide berth next Thursday evening, for on that eventful night will be staged a pretentious Leap Year dance, to which, bevy of the fair sex of Washington are certain to gather, there to enjoy the smooch floor and alluring music always in evidence at this popular home of the dance.

BILL GIVING GRAIN

TO EUROPE INDORSED

Favorable report of the Fordney bill providing for the sale on credit of 5,000,000 bushels of soft wheat flour held by the Grain Corporation to European countries for relief of their people was ordered yesterday by the Senate Finance Committee.

The resolution as originally reported in the House provided for a $20,000,000 appropriation for foreign relief. It was changed by the Ways and Means Committee of the House later to the present form.

Director Julius Barnes, of the Grain Corporation, said the wheat to be distributed was not salable in the United States and that the foreign governments needing it were not in a position to purchase for cash.

BLAMES "MOVIE" HABIT FOR WASTE OF MEATS

Maryland Fair Price Secretary
Scopes Wives Who Favor
Films to Kitchen.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 21.—Walter J. Blenemann, executive secretary of the Maryland Fair Price Commission, is a "movie fan." He says so himself, but he threatens to start a campaign against women who attend the movies in the afternoon unless they return home in time to prepare steaks and chops in such manner as to avoid waste.

Mr. Blenemann believes the good housewife should be home long enough before 6 o'clock in the evening to prepare or supervise the preparation of dinner.

"The movies are responsible in part for a lot of meat waste," Mr. Blenemann is quoted as saying today. "The housewife sits in the movies until 6:30 o'clock, then runs home and dashes steaks and chops into the pan without paying any attention to what the butcher sent. If we were to shut down the movies until 7:30 in the evening we could save a lot of meat waste," said Mr. Blenemann.
